

C. J. Syvertson arrived on Friday from Twin Falls, Idaho, to look after some business matters in and around Courtenay. He and Andrew are engaged in farming out in that country and are much pleased with their location. While the weather was not very cold when he arrived here he said it was the coldest he had seen since he left here last spring. He went out to Melville on Tuesday for a visit with his brother John.