

Gaylord Wells has gone to LeRaysville, Pennsylvania, to live with his uncle and attend high school. He put in the first year in high school in Courtenay and thought he would like to see how they did things in the east for a year at least. He took a couple of horses down with him as horses in that country bring a good price and they wanted to sell them.

---