

Gaylord Wells returned on Friday from Ithaca, Mich., where he had been for several weeks. He went from here to LeRaysville, Pa., with the intention of going to school but that country did not agree with him and he was obliged to leave there. He liked it better in Michigan but come to the conclusion that North Dakota was good enough for him and came home. He will probably attend school in Fargo.