

M. D. Williams, hospital steward, is again attending to his duties, having resumed the wearing of crutches and having been for some six weeks confined to his bed due to a fall on a slippery floor at the hospital. His hip was injured considerably and the fall also caused the old injury to the knee to be again troublesome.—Alert.