

Wimbledon Items

News, May 31—Mrs. T. J. Atwood of Courtenay was a visitor here Wednesday.

Miss Geraldine Berlin is confined to her home with an attack of inflammatory rheumatism.

C. A. McBride and family are occupying the Langness home for a couple of months, while Mrs. Langness is away visiting.

Contractor Curren of Valley City has a force of men at work in laying stone foundation for the cement walk from the corner of the Crowley drug store to Anton Fried's residence.

Among those from Courtenay who attended the Commencement exercises were the Misses Inez Atwood, Effie Halverson, Blanche Walsh, Emma Edwards, Floy Thorsgard, and Messrs, George Berg, Clarence Edwards, Earl Hughes and Bert Webb.

Albert Anderson came up from Spiritwood station last Sunday to spend the day with friends. Albert is now in the employ of Anton Fried, handling machinery at that point. Albert reports the growing grain and all farming operations further advanced down his way than here.

A message was received Wednesday from Winona, Minn., telling of the death of Mr. More, father to the More boys and Mrs. M. L. Feckler of this place. The three sons and daughter left the same day for Winona to be in attendance at the funeral. The deceased was nearly 85 years old and had been failing in health for several months past.

Anton Fried came in from the farm south of town Wednesday and reports a very heavy rain in the vicinity of Spiritwood that day. Reports from the west say a heavy rain fell between Velva and Carrington Wednesday night. There has been no moisture of consequence around Wimbledon since the big snow fall of two weeks ago, but farmers report the growing grain advancing nicely and what's needed is plenty of warm weather.