

MARRIED

Monday morning M. L. Vale, our popular druggist left for Sheldon and soon after a report become current that he was to be married to a young lady of that town. Tuesday word reached us that Miss Mae McCully of Sheldon was married to Mr. M. L. Vale at the home of the bride's parents, it being a quiet home affair. The newley wedded couple arrived yesterday morning and repaired immediately to the home which the groom had prepared and they will commence housekeeping at once. Mr. Vale is one of our prominent business men and has a host of friends who wish him unbounded luck and a matrimonial path where naught but roses grow. His bride is comparatively a stranger in this community but the Gazette extends, with many others, the hand of welcome and congratulations.
