

ASHLAND SCREENINGS

A number of young people surprised Mr. and Mrs. LaBrashe, Monday evening.

Chas. Schumacher and son, Harry, went to Jamestown Saturday. Harry returned Sunday but Mr. Schumacher remained to attend the dairy convention.

Michael Stabenow is on the sick list.

Walter Lange returned from Jamestown where he has been doing stunts in the cord wood business. He cut six cords of wood in three days. There must have been something very attractive.

The entertainment and basket social in School No. 1 will be on Feb. 10.

Willie Wiechmann is seriously ill with an attack of appendicitis. Dr. Caldwell of Wimbledon is the attending physician.

One of our young men has put a chicken coop on his sleigh. Look out for your chickens.

The writer from Durham seems to have taken it to heart about our having mentioned his contact with the hot stove. We are glad to learn that it was not serious, and a misunderstanding on our part.

E. A. Lange was grinding feed on Monday afternoon.

Peter Albrecht arrived home from the river Monday. He says trapping was not a success, there at least.

A number of the neighbors spent an enjoyable evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Kokott, Thursday.

Martin and John Albrecht are cutting ice for George Tucker.

One of the Durham farmers stopped the Gazette last fall because of the scarcity of news. Since the "Owl" has been contributing he drives six miles to read a neighbor's paper. He'd better subscribe.

The "Owl."

Editor's note—No, the "Owl" is in error. The farmer referred to did not stop his paper on account of the scarcity of news but because the news was not edited to his personal liking and we neglected to consult his wishes in the matter.