

u
k
-
e
e
e
s
-
y
e
y
r
-
t
-
E. J. Asselin arrived here from Wimbledon last Friday and has accepted a position in the tonsorial parlor of Joe Hicks. Mr.
Asselin has sold his barber shop at Wimbledon which he owned for some time and expects to make this his permanent residence. He is a first class barber and the public may rest assured that there will be no hair pulling match in his chair but that the shears and razor will be used only when they are in a first-class condition.