

FAMOUS METEOR GONE

DISAPPEARS AS MYSTERIOUSLY
AS IT ARRIVED.

Independent—The Carrington Meteor has disappeared. It went as suddenly and unannounced as it arrived. No one financially interested in the famous celestial visitor has any knowledge as to when, why or where it was taken. For many months it was kept at the Beck Clothing Co. store, where it attracted hundreds of visitors. Some time ago it was moved to the outer edge of the sidewalk in front of the store and one day last week owners were shocked to find it missing. It is claimed that the precious rock was scooped into the sewer ditch and has been covered. The ditch along Main street was being filled at the same time the meteor disappeared and workmen, not knowing of the history of the rock, may shoveled it into the ditch. The ground being frozen it is impossible to start excavating at the present time. Another view advanced as to its disappearance is that it may have been purloined in the interest of science, although this version is hardly probable.
