

Rev. J. W. Kingston returned Saturday from Rochester, Minn., where he had gone several weeks ago to seek relief from a complication of ailments with which he had been troubled for some time. As stated in previous issues of the Gazette, a successful operation was performed upon him by the famous Mayo brothers at the St. Mary hospital from which he is recovering slowly as might be expected from so serious an operation. Though complete recovery seems assured it will take a month or over before he will regain his former rugged health.
