

The wrestling match between George Levanskofki, the Durham lightweight, and Edward Hanson was pulled off at the Fire hall last Friday immediately after the basketball games before a good sized crowd. Both boys were in the best of condition and it took 26 minutes to decide the first fall, which was awarded on a toe hold to Hanson. The next round the latter acted mostly on the defensive but Levanskofki, though nearly winded by the many endeavors to turn his husky opponent, succeeded in getting the next two falls in 22 and 16 minutes respectively. M. L. Vale as referee gave good satisfaction by his constant vigilance concerning unfair holds. Levanskofki expects to have a match with Frank Michaelson of McHenry, who is reported to be good at the game, and an interesting match is promised. Jan. 14 is the date set.
