

---

Arthur Lindh, of Jamestown, was here Thursday and Friday visiting his brother, Carl, before leaving for the western states. He will stop off at a number of the larger cities in Montana and has Washington in view as a final destination where he expects to enter the railway mail service.

---