

the property.

Martin Ovegaard had the misfortune to sprain his ankle last Sunday. He stepped on some obstruction which caused his foot to slip sideways from which he sustained the injury. He is now hobbling on crutches but will again be able to be around in the course of a couple of weeks. •

---