

Tom Suchla has constructed several contrivances for making certain parts of the same fastener which M. J. O'Connor expects to soon put on the market, which does the work much better and quicker than the machine which Mr. O'Connor had had manufactured for that purpose in Minneapolis recently. Courtenay certainly has a quota of inventive geniuses.