

Clarence Wilson left for southwestern Montana near the boundary line of Wyoming to inspect the farming country in that part of Montana and may take up a claim if he finds anything that suits him.