

D. C. Clancy had the misfortune to run a sliver in one of his hands about two weeks ago and that member has caused him considerable annoyance since. He is now carrying it in a sling and it will be several days before he will be able to use it again.