

A PECULIAR ACCIDENT

ONE OF HERMAN SCHELER'S HORSES WAS KILLED BY A BUGGY SHAFT ENTERING ITS INTESTINES WHILE ON THE STREET WEDNESDAY.

A rather peculiar accident happened on the street on Wednesday afternoon. While going around the corner at Fosholdts Bros. store in opposite directions Mike Mikleton and Herman Scheler's rigs came in contact with each other and as a result one of the shafts of Mr. Mikleton's buggy entered the side of Mr. Scheler's horse letting out the animal's intestines and it was found necessary to kill it. It seems that Mr. Mikleton's horse was scared by the train and became unmanagable and this was the cause of the accident.

Mr. Scheler demanded pay for his horse which was a valuable animal but the matter was finally compromised and a complicated law suit was avoided.
