
How I Spent My Last Vacation.

Last vacation I started to work at the paint shop, there I learned several things about buggy painting.

I worked there about a month and a half, during that time we made several trips in the country staying sometimes a day and sometimes a week and then I had good experience in house painting.

After that I stayed around town and played ball and other games, for two weeks or more.

Then I assisted the editor for two weeks, setting type most of the time, and also folding and mailing papers.

After that I made several trips into the country on my wheel and then waited for school to begin.
