

Pleasantview Notes

The weather for the past few days has been extremely cold, 45 below zero being about the average temperature.

Rev. Bearham held quarterly meetings on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. He is assisting Rev. Shaver in holding revival meetings.

We learn that Christ Kelson is on the sick list. We hope he will soon be all O. K.

Sam C. Swanson visited Courtenay on Tuesday.

George Kline and Miss Gertie Kline and their mother attended quarterly meetings.

Frank Lawrence and family visited Pleasantview on Friday, returning home on Sunday. We are always glad to see Frank's smiling countenance among us.

Our friend John Kolstrom was around Pleasantview selling apple trees and rose bushes and telling fortunes on the side. As an apple tree and rose bush agent John is all right, but as a fortune teller he is hard to beat.

Miss Anna Bond is on the sick list, the result of a bad cold.

Mr. Hayes was looking for a load of hay that had walked away from one end of his stack. We have not learned whether he found it or not.

Question: Why does Christ N. go east so often with those high steppers on the buggy.

Wilkes Wilsie visited Cooperstown on Wednesday.

Ed Danelson visited the Nordeen's on Wednesday.

Henry Grasser and Fred Fried visited Cooperstown on Wednesday.

Miss Westwood visited Carrington on Friday.

Mrs. Crawford and Norman visited at Charles Montgomery's on Friday.

John Bradford made a flying visit to Pleasantview last week.

The people of Eastman school district have just received the organ for the Bemis school house. It is a fine instrument.
