

Hamilton Reid's team ran away with the binder on Tuesday and for a time made things exceedingly lively. Hamilton was cutting barley and came to town for a bolt and left the man shocking around the team to watch them. They did not attempt to run until Hamilton got almost back to the machine and it is thought that the sound of the pony's feet in the stubble scared them as they all bounded at the same time and went down the field kicking out bundles at a rapid rate until the machine broke and the bull wheel became fast.
