

David Ridley, who went to the Canadian northwest a couple of years ago to carve out his fortune, has returned to North Dakota, satisfied to remain. He reports that John Walker who went with him is now advertising his farm for sale and will return to North Dakota as soon as he can sell out there. Thus it will always be.