

The Walters family, who live just west of the south end of the lake, had a narrow escape from poisoning on the Fourth. They had made preparation to attend the celebration at Edmunds and had, a day or two previous, put up some chicken in tins which they ate for lunch. Oak Walters was taken very sick while playing ball in the afternoon and was taken home. His mother was taken with the same kind of an attack shortly after and while taking her home, Con, another son, was seized with a violent attack. The Doctor was summoned from Pingree and it is reported that one or two of the parties had a narrow escape from death. They have all fully recovered and believe that their