

Mrs. J. W. See died at her residence in the city of Jamestown early Monday morning after a lingering illness from Bright's disease. She was about fifty years of age and was married thirty years ago and has resided in Jamestown for the past twelve years. Her husband died last January.