

Killed by Soo Train

A terrible accident happened at Kensal last Saturday morning while a Soo freight train was switching in the yards. Harry Smith was knocked down by the caboose and run over, the caboose and three cars passing over his body severing it completely from the head. It seems that young Smith who was about seventeen years of age was walking beside the coal sheds and it is thought that the noise of the moving coal prevented his hearing the moving train and it caught him before he was aware of what had happened.

He was a son of Frank Smith who is well known in this part of the country and was a very bright and nice young man and his sudden death cast a gloom over the whole town of Kensal.
