

---

The new school bell has arrived, been placed in position, and now calls the scholars to school. It is not as mellow a bell as would be desired, but it is all right and answers the purpose. The huge tower has been torn off the school house and just a low cupola built. The building looks better and is not so top-heavy as it was.

---