

---

While Mr. Sam Sansburn and his little son Joe were out driving Sunday morning, the ponies became frightened at something and ran away, throwing them out of the buggy. Little Joe's collar bone was broken and his shoulder badly bruised while Mr. Sansburn was pretty badly bruised and scratched. The buggy was pretty well demolished. It was a bad accident and we hope little Joe will come out all right.

---