

Mr. Woodman Glaspell met with a bad accident Monday morning. He started out with a team of bronchos and a wagon laden with barrels after water, when a ring in the neckyoke broke letting the wagon tongue to the ground, the bronchos running away and throwing Mr. Glaspell out of the wagon, knocking him insenslble. His ribs were badly hurt and he received a bad cut over one eye. We understand that Len Martin's little son was also thrown from a buggy and received a bad gash on the head. We understand that no bones were broken and that both parties are doing well.
