The three year old baby of Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Melgard struck Alf Melgard, age 6 years across the face with a club last Thursday, causing a severe wound across the nose and in the corner of one eye. The little fellow very nearly bled to death and Doctors Kerr and Platon had to be summoned to stop the flow of blood. The little sufferer's chances for recovery were very slim for a day or two, but we are now happy to state that he is improving. The children were out playing together at the time the blow was struck.
