

---

Hans Moen had the misfortune to break his leg again Monday. He was riding a horse and leading another and somehow got pulled from the horse he was riding and fell, striking his leg against a rock, breaking it two inches below where the same leg was broken a few months ago. Dr. Platon was called to reduce the fracture.

---