
Struck by Lightning.

About midnight Monday during the heavy electrical storm, lightning struck a barn belonging to Herbert Church, who lives eleven miles west of town, and burned it down, together with nine head of horses. As soon as the barn was struck flames seemed to burst out in all directions and Mr. Church says it was impossible to save a thing after he reached the barn. All the harness, etc., was burned. There was some insurance on the barn but none on the horses. His loss will amount to at least $1,200. This is indeed a heavy loss to Mr. Church and is doubly heavy at this season of the year when he needs his horses to put in his crop. However, he has already put in 170 acres of wheat. The many friends of Herb. sympathize with him in his loss, at the same time he is known to be a genuine hustler and it will not be his fault if he does not come out all right.
