Will Jameson met with a painful accident Wednesday. He was in his granary working around and reached up over one of the bins to get something and in doing so knocked down a loaded gun which was discharged and the load struck Mr. Jameson in the wrist tearing out quite a large hole and inflicting a very painful wound. Dr. Bergstrom was called in and dressed the wound. Mr. Jameson is lucky that he did not lose his life, and the accident again demonstrates that it is dangerous to keep loaded guns on the premises.
