H. Clarke, of Wimbledon, while out shooting chickens Sunday, was shot in the left eye by P. C. Toste, from the effects of which he may lose his eye. Toste shot at a chicken and missed it, the bird then turned and went towards Clarke, Toste also turned and let fly the second barrell of the gun, three of the shots entering Clarke's eye, two lodging in the eyeball and one shot entering through the eyelid. This is a very unfortunate affair.
