

T. O. Hetager met with a very painful accident last Saturday in which his face received a severe burning. It seems that he and another party were lighting one of those patent gasoline lamps, one of them holding a bottle filled with alcohol for the purpose of generating gas and a lighted match was held too close to the bottle with the result that the alcohol exploded, striking Mr. Hetager in the face, burning him quite bad.