

The farm house of Torkel Njaa, a farmer living $6\frac{1}{2}$ miles south of Cooperstown, burned to the ground on Monday noon. The family were away visiting at Chris Arestad's, a mile or so away, and knew nothing of the fire until they saw it where they were visiting. Mr. Njaa arrived at the fire too late to save anything. We understand that no insurance was carried on the house and furniture. The loss fall heavy on Mr. Njaa and family at this
