

Sverre Uglevik died at a hospital in Fargo Friday from injuries received from lifting a hay rack. His spine was in some manner sprained resulting in inflammation and death. He worked on the Carl Hanson's dray line a number of years, but of late he has been working on a farm east of town.