

Mrs. J. J. Hogness is confined to her bed as a result of a runaway which she had last Friday night while bringing her little girl and Marjory Anderson home from school. In some way she dropped one line; the horse became frightened and ran away. She succeeded in getting the little girls out with only a few bruises but in getting out was hurt herself. Mrs. Freer brought them home and a doctor was called. It is hoped she will be out in a few days.