

Joe Kininsky, who has been a familiar character about town for a number of years, left for Minneapolis on Thursday in order to have his right arm treated for blood-poison.