

John L. Micklethun has been at a Fargo hospital for some time with two of his children and with his mother. The children had some minor troubles to be treated and their grandmother had to undergo an operation for appendicitis.