

Arne Nevland suffered a broken arm as the result of a runaway last Friday forenoon. The horse, which was hitched to a single buggy, became frightened by an automobile which came up behind them, and started to run. In jumping from the rig Mr. Nevland sustained a broken arm. The other man stayed in the rig and succeeded in quieting the horse. This is an unfortunate accident for Mr. Nevland as he will be unable to work during the rest of this season.
