

A pretty affair was the home wedding of Miss Margaret Conlon to Mr. William Curren, of Casselton, N. D., November 15th. The decorations and appointments were all that could be desired. The profusion of roses, carnations, ferns, and chrysanthemums brightened the whole house. The guests assembled at 10 a. m. and the train from the east brought the groom and numerous friends. At about 12 o'clock the marriage was solemnized in a very pleasing manner. The bride wore a gown of white Crepe de chien, trimmed in applique, and her flowers were roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Curren, wore dove colored material with white silk vest. Mr. Patrick Conlon, Jr., was best man. After receiving the hearty congratulations all repaired to the dining room where a bountiful repast awaited. Creams, fruits, and substantial viands were served in great abundance. The gifts represented the high esteem in which the bride was held in the community. The bridal party left for Casselton on the evening train, and later will return to Valley City where the groom is engaged in business, and begin housekeeping at once. The following is a list of presents:
