

---

George P. Monson, a young man, a stranger here, was locked up by Marshal Malosh a few days ago and later taken to Valley City. The young fellow is evidently insane, and at intervals was somewhat noisy and violent. He came in on the Branch train and seemed to realize his condition. Monson said he had a brother in Minneapolis but did not state his own place of residence.