

---

Ed Berry had his foot badly crushed last week while unloading binders from a car. He was in the car when another one was kicked in against it, knocking down the crates, one of which dropped on his foot. He is able to be around on crutches, but it will be some time before he can return to work.

---