

DAZEY.

Emmet Mosher is putting up a new barn these days.

Albert Gad spent Sunday in McHenry, returning Monday.

John Carlson is building a new barn back of his place of business.

O. T. Olson's large new barn is finished and has been undergoing a coat of paint.

Yards are being cleaned up, and the rubbish burned away. May the practice become universal.

Miss Peterson, a sister of Mrs. C. E. Spicer, is expected to come up from Los Angeles this week.

Baseball enthusiasm is being worked up to quite a pitch. Daily practice is going on, the team is quickly getting into fighting trim.

Hans Peterson, of Valley City, has been up with his family to visit his brother, Cornelius Peterson, who lives just west of Dazey.

J. L. LaValley returned from Moorhead Monday. He reports that but little seeding was done in the Red River valley at that time.

Last Friday nights' rain gave everything a new start. The ground is in the best of condition for seeding. A good many farmers finished their wheat seeding.

Quite a number have invested in trees this spring, which shows that people begin to realize what is necessary to make North Dakota a more inviting place to live in.

The primary and intermediate grades will celebrate Arbor day taking a trip to the river, some ten miles east. The upper grades, having already been to the Sheyenne this spring, will look after the yard, school garden, etcetera.

Lee Combs, of Valley City, was up on business last Thursday, returning Friday morning. Wm. McPherson did the trip with his automobile. Perhaps, by the way, that automobile service between here and Valley City would be a good substitute for our limited railway service.
