Alfred K. Anderson, the 17-year-old son of Ole Anderson of Clark City, whose illness from typhoid fever was mentioned in last week's paper, died at the Saxbern hotel at 7 o'clock last Saturday morning. The lad had been unwell for a long time, but did not take to his bed until the 4th of July, from which time until his death he was unable to recognize any one, and appeared to suffer greatly. Everything was done by his people and others to alleviate his pains, but without avail, until death put an end to all earthly suffering. The funeral services were held at Clark City school house last Monday, Rev. L. N. Halling conducting the services.
