Ray Thurston was in town last Monday.

Nels Larsen has been out of town several days this week.

Ole Oppegard spent Sunday in Valley City with relatives there.

Mr. Garfield has been limping for some time, from injuries received in a runaway.

Reuben Stee was home from the University visiting his friends and relatives for a day or two.

A number of the young folks of the town surprised the family of Mr. Owens, at his home southwest of town.

The photographer left town the fore part of the week with the intention of continuing his business in one of the "Soo" towns.

E. A. Duff's have moved into their new home, their rooms over Galleggy's being now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. James Markuson.

The marriage of Mr. Ross to Mrs. E. LaRue came as a surprise to the many friends of the bride and groom. It occurred last Monday at Valley City. Of course the happy couple was duly "charivaried."

Hallowe'en was duly celebrated. The "spooks" began just after sunset and the "wee sma' hours" scarce saw the cessation of their mysterious tasks. Sunday morning, however found Front street holding nearly all the movable property of the burg. Some rather useless pranks have been reported, which leads us to believe that all ghosts are not equally endowed with common sense.
