

DAZEY.

O. T. Olson's large new residence is rapidly nearing completion.

Elmer Oppegard's brick meat market is rapidly nearing completion.

The Iowa hotel is again open and running under new management.

Mr. Kreuger is now well established in his new and handsome residence.

E. A. Duff expects to have his family located in his fine new residence before long.

Reuben Steel left last week for the State University at Grand Forks, where he intends to study the coming year.

Mrs. Spicer came from Pardeville, Wis., last week to visit her children, all of whom are settled in North Dakota.

Attorney Spicer, from Cooperstown was down last week to take part in a family reunion. He returned on Saturday.

With a force of three teachers in charge, a successful year of school is anticipated. The attendance is already above fifty.

This is a good year for pumpkins anyway, specimens having been brought in weighing from sixty to eighty pounds.

The prospects of our lady teachers, for boarding and lodging accommodations seemed to be brightening somewhat at last reports.

The depressing weather of the past few weeks has its effect on trade. The threshers however, have been "making hay while the sun shines," and the fields are being rapidly cleared.

O. H. West, formerly in the machinery business here, left last week for San Diego, after a brief stay in this vicinity looking after farming interests and renewing acquaintances. He and his family have spent the past year in the west regaining their health. Mr. West says that the west agrees very well both with him and his family.

The C. L. S. C., commonly known as the Chatauqua Reading circle is being reorganized with a view to take in the full coming year. Mrs. C. W. J. Prydz has been re-elected as president. This is American year for Chatauqua people and an interesting year is expected.