Accident

Sunday morning, as H. E. Black was taking Misses Dora Berger and Mina Walhowe to Glenfield, something went wrong with the steering gear of his car just before they reached that town, and before the machine could be checked it turned over throwing Mr. Black clear of the wreck, but pinning the girls under it. Miss Berger's shoulder was dislocated and Miss Walhowe received several bad cuts on the face and back of the head, causing her to become unconscious. She was taken to one of the homes in Glenfield where she lay until four o'clock in the afternoon before regaining consciousness. For a time it was feared she would not recover, but latest reports are that she is improving somewhat.

The two had been cooking for Mr. Black's threshing crew, and later doing his housework, but were through there, the one most injured intending to go to the home of Mrs. F. F. Brown Sunday evening. She had just recovered from a sick spell of about a week's duration.

Mr. Black says he was not driving at any great speed when the accident occurred.
