

A number of days ago little Alva Brudwick got some chaff from wild oats in her eye, which could not be removed in the usual manner. It became necessary for her mother to take her to Fargo to have the foreign substance removed, but by the time this was done an ulcer had developed, which is requiring treatment also.