

Auto Accident

Ras Thu Hurt

Sunday afternoon as Ras Thu was taking his sister, Sylvia Larson, to Medina, they had a smashup about ten miles west of Jamestown in which he was so badly injured about his head and face that he has since been at a hospital in that city.

From reports Sylvia, who was driving, was racing with another car, and in some way lost control of it, the car turning completely over three times before it came to a stop. When Ras was picked up he was unconscious, and did not revive until several hours later.

Late news from him is that he will recover, although delirious from the shock.

Miss Larson was but slightly injured.
