

J. H. Rule came home the latter part of last week from Fargo where had been receiving treatment for blood poison in his hand. We are informed that a part of one finger had to be removed.